

Parliamentary Contributory Pension Fund General Privacy Notice

Who we are

This privacy notice has been prepared by the Trustees of the Parliamentary Contributory Pension Fund ("the Scheme").

As Trustees of the Scheme, we hold certain personal information (known as "personal data") about Scheme members and, where applicable, their dependants and beneficiaries. Personal data is the information from which you can be identified and any personal information we hold or process in respect of you will be subject to certain protections

The Trustees are known as the "data controller" as we decide the purposes for and the means by which the personal data we hold is processed.

Owing to the nature of their role, the Scheme actuary will be a joint Data Controller of Scheme Personal Data alongside the Trustees.

What information we collect about you

Depending on the circumstances and the stage of your Scheme membership, we will hold some or all of the following information about you:

- your name and date of birth
- your gender
- your marital status
- your address and other contact details (such as telephone number and email address)
- your national insurance number
- details of your bank account (to pay benefits)
- details about your dependants and/or beneficiaries (including their names and possibly details of their gender)
- relevant service information (including current and past salary information and service dates)
- details about your pension benefits
- medical and other details about your health.

From time to time we may also need to collect other information about you. For example, as part of running the Scheme and to calculate and pay benefits, we may also need to collect particularly sensitive information about you and/or your dependants and beneficiaries. This is known as “sensitive personal data” and includes details relating to health, racial or ethnic origin, religious or other similar beliefs, sexual orientation and political affiliations. Except where the legislation allows it, this information cannot be processed or passed to a third party without your explicit consent.

Your personal data will generally be collected directly from you or from relevant bodies such as the Independent Parliamentary Standards Authority (IPSA). However, we may also receive personal data from other parties, for example HM Revenue & Customs, the Cabinet Office or someone acting on your behalf, such as an independent financial adviser. If you are receiving a dependant’s benefit from the Scheme, or a benefit resulting from divorce or the dissolution of a civil partnership, we may have been given your personal data by a Scheme member, or through enquiries undertaken by us on a Scheme member’s death. We do not collect any personal data that we do not need and any unnecessary personal data received will be securely destroyed.

What we do with your personal data

The Trustees have a legitimate interest in holding and processing information about you as it is needed for us to properly administer the Scheme and to calculate and pay benefits. We also keep information in order to comply with our obligations towards members under the Scheme, as well as under relevant legislation. Personal data relating to the Scheme is held on paper and on computer systems and is processed and stored in accordance with our Data Protection Policy.

To the extent possible, we ensure that personal data is held in the United Kingdom (UK), however, our Additional Voluntary Contribution (AVC) providers may transfer information outside of the UK to their third party service providers. Regulations under section 17A of the Data Protection Act 2018 specify that all countries within the European Economic Area (EEA) are regarded as providing an adequate level of data protection. If personal data are transferred to a country outside the UK or EEA, the adequacy of that country and the organisations and systems processing the data is assessed to ensure that appropriate safeguards are in place. Although, we intend to ensure that all aspects of our IT provision are UK (rather than EEA) based.

Our work does not involve profiling or automated decision making that uses personal data that other parties send to us. Given the nature of our work, we do not expect this to change.

Who we share your personal data with

We are not allowed to disclose personal data about you to other parties except:

- when required for contractual or legal reasons or other specifically identified purposes; or
- where you have given your consent.

In order to properly administer the Scheme, we share your personal data with the following:

- the body responsible for your pay as an MP and/or officeholder
- our Scheme secretary
- the third parties who are responsible for the day-to-day administration of the Scheme on behalf of the Trustees
- the Scheme's professional advisers, including the Scheme actuary, auditor, medical advisers, investment consultants and lawyers
- the Pensions Ombudsman and other statutory bodies
- the advisers and printers who help us prepare various communications we send to you
- our appointed insurance companies for the purposes of additional voluntary contributions
- the Bankers' Automated Clearing Service (BACS), or the Clearing House Automated Payment System (CHAPS) in order to pay pensions in the UK, or with Citibank (the administrators' banking providers) when pensions are being paid overseas

How long we keep personal data for

We must keep all personal data safe and only hold it for as long as necessary. To meet the requirements of both UK tax and pensions law, we must keep certain personal data (for example, details about the date a member joins the Scheme, their name and address, and details of benefits paid) for a minimum of 6 years. However, given the nature of pension schemes, the Trustees may be required to keep some of your personal information until after your final benefit entitlement has been paid from the Scheme.

We regularly review the personal data held in relation to the Scheme in accordance with our Data Protection Policy. If we conclude that certain personal data is no longer needed, that personal data will generally be destroyed.

Your rights

You have several rights granted to you under the United Kingdom General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR) which are detailed below. You should be aware that taking any of these steps could have an impact on the payment of your benefits, your participation in the Scheme and/or our ability to answer questions relating to your benefits.

We will respond to requests without undue delay, and usually within one month of receipt of the request. Information will generally be provided to you free of charge, although the Trustees can charge a reasonable fee in certain circumstances.

Your rights

- Right to Rectification – if at any point you find that the personal data we hold about you is inaccurate, you can ask to have it corrected.
- Right of Access – you have the right to see personal data that is held about you and a right to have a copy provided to you, or someone else on your behalf, in a machine readable (namely, digital) format.
- Right to Restrict processing – you can require the Trustees to restrict the processing of your personal data in certain circumstances, for example, whilst a complaint about its accuracy is being resolved.
- Right to object to processing – as we are relying on legitimate interests as a reason for processing, you can object to your personal data being processed, although the Trustees can override this objection in certain circumstances.
- Withdrawing consent – where you have given us your consent to processing your personal data, you can withdraw that consent at any time by notifying us (see “Who to contact” below). However, withdrawing your consent will not affect the processing of any personal data which took place beforehand and it may be possible for the Trustees to continue processing your personal data where this is justified.
- Right to be forgotten – you can request that your personal data is deleted altogether, although the Trustees can override this request in certain circumstances.

Who to contact about your personal data

If you wish to:

- exercise any of the rights mentioned above; or
- make a complaint about how we have handled your personal data;

please contact PCPF@buck.com

Making a complaint to the Information Commissioner's Office

If you are not satisfied with our response to any query you raise with us, or you believe we are processing your personal data in a way which is inconsistent with the law, you can complain to the Information Commissioner's Office whose helpline number is: 0303 123 1113.
